THE POLITICAL FIELD.

Blue Anchor Candidate Gathering at Bangor.

Log Cabin Feature of Indiana Democratic Ranks.

Harrison Receives Quietly on Middle Bass Island.

Convention Held in Nebraska and Missouri.

Bangor, Maine, August 23. The Democratic campaign opened here to-day. Governor Marcellus Coggswell, Mr. Cleveland's personal friend, who was to have been the principal speaker, was taken ill and could not be present. Mr. Brown was to be chairman, but he took the platform to make a speech. He was in perfect health, saying a short time before. His speech was written, and he left a typewritten copy of it with the committee of arrangements.

Quiet Candidates.

Put-in-Bay, Ohio, August 23. Gen. Harrison and family spent the afternoon and evening on the island. Members of the Middle Bass club will not allow delegations to land on the island, and it is impossible for strangers to secure permission even to visit the cottages.

Port Huron, August 23. Judge Thurman passed a quiet day, and held an informal reception this evening at the cottage of D. W. Brooks.

Campaign Demonstration.

Richmond, Ind., August 23. The Democratic campaign opened here to-day. Four clubs with voters of 1840 were present with banners. The meeting was addressed by Governor J. E. Forster of Ohio. Mr. Chase, candidate for governor, and other prominent politicians addressed meetings to-night after a torch light procession.

State Convention.

Jefferson City, Mo., August 23. The democratic convention to-day renominated Governor Francis and Lieutenant Governor Kinney. The platform re-affirms the principles announced in the St. Louis platform, warmly endorses the action thereof of the democratic house of representatives in the passage of the Mills bill, endorses all the measures and policies and favors such legislation as will secure to home producers and consumers justice, based on the basis of supply and demand.

Lincoln, Neb., August 23. In the republican state convention this afternoon General John M. Thayer, the present incumbent, was renominated for governor.

Fifteen Congress.

Small.

A Democratic Congressional convention adopted a resolution in favor of the interstate commerce commissioner's recommendation for repeal of the long and short haul clause, and also favoring the passage by congress of the Cullom bill to regulate railroad traffic.

Consistency.

Consistency is a jewel, and the Democratic party has been a fruitful and lucrative field for its cultivation. Ever since the Democratic party has been in power it has been engaged in the business of reducing the revenue. Its platform declares that the present revenue system is unjust and unequal, and that it must be reformed. Its representatives in congress have been engaged in the business of reducing the revenue. Its leaders have been engaged in the business of reducing the revenue. Its press has been engaged in the business of reducing the revenue. A FIRE HORROR.

An Explosion Occurs During the Burning of a Mill

Situated on an Island Near Neenah, Wisconsin.

Spectators and Firemen Mowed Down Like Grass.

Eighteen Killed and Many Seriously Injured.

A Fire Horror.

Neenah, Wis., August 23.—At midnight last night the large paper mill owned by George Whiting on an island between this city and Menasha burned. While the burning structure was surrounded by a crowd the battery of boilers exploded. The roof and walls were thrown outward, sending a shower of bricks and timbers among the spectators. Eighteen persons were killed, seven fatally injured and a number less seriously hurt. The mill was a three story structure, loss $100,000.

When the flames broke out fifty men were at work in the building. The fire alarm brought several hundred to the spot, who crowded as close to the burning building as the intense heat would permit. About 1:30, while the building was a mass of flame, an explosion occurred without warning. The roof was thrown upward and outward. The walls of brick crumbled and crashed into the street. In an instant scores of men were buried under the debris. There was a moment of shocked silence, a cry of horror from the multitude. The first strong impulse to fly from possible further danger was soon overcome and hundreds began the work of recovering the bodies of the dead and rescuing the injured. Body after body was found crushed and mangled by great timbers and masonry, almost beyond recognition. The injured were carried to neighboring residences and their homes as soon as their identity could be fixed.

The dead are the following: John Moore, Joseph Bresger, Wm. Guelz, Thomas Montgais, Frank Sheffer, Gilbert Mericle, Frank Manlover, Frank Musciner, Chris Laughinger, John L. Eichwinger, John Hartman, Louis Knoen, Joe Bulins, Thomas Jeffers, Shoe Weary, Sylvester Schouse and a man unknown. The fatally injured are Albert Hoechmer, Benj. Crouse, Joseph Smiter, Joe Smith, John Salber, Lingle Stelz.

The fire started from shavings in the engine room. After the roof fell the firemen turned the hose upon the immense [illegible] which, like with straw and rags, superheated. An explosion followed. The bleacher was carried 200 feet across a tramway where most of the people were standing, mowing them down like grass. It passed about as high as a man's head, and most of those killed and injured were struck by it on the head. Seven of the killed were coopers by trade. Nearly all leave large families in poor circumstances. They will be buried at the city's expense, probably all together, next Sunday. The mayor has appealed to the citizens for aid for the destitute families. A coroner's jury will be empaneled to investigate.

The new Brunswick hotel at Fountain, which has just been completed, will be opened this evening with a supper and a dance. The Brunswick is one of the largest buildings in Fountain and is owned by Mr. E. H. Owen, jr., of this city. It was built by Mr. J. W. Richie, of Fountain, and is a credit to his ability as a workman. The hotel has ten lodging rooms, the smallest of which is twelve by fourteen feet, large parlor, dining room, kitchen and office. These rooms have been handsomely furnished and carpeted, and are well lighted and ventilated. The Brunswick is located on the main street, faces south and west, and is within a block of the Santa Fe depot and the postoffice. The hotel has been leased to Mrs. J. C. Denny, who will conduct it in a thoroughly first class manner. She will make a special effort to provide for the wants of invalids, who will find Fountain a very pleasant place to pass the winter or summer. It is five hundred feet lower than Colorado Springs, and is well protected from the severe storms of winter. There are four daily trains each way between it and Denver, Pueblo and Colorado Springs. The village has also two daily mails. Mr. Henry Link will conduct a livery stable in connection with the hotel, and will furnish horses and rigs to guests at moderate terms. The Brunswick will furnish the same accommodations as can be secured in this city for more reasonable rates. Any information connected with the hotel will be cheerfully given by addressing Mrs. J. C. Denny.

Fennonnella was hanged at Buena Vista yesterday. He confessed his guilt.

Total	61

The basis of apportionment is the same as that of the [illegible]

The committee recommend that the several precincts hold their primaries on Wednesday, August 29th, 1888, at 7 o'clock p. m.

For the committee:

JOHN CAMPBELL,
Chairman.
J. W. D. STOCKELL,
Secretary.

The senate must be tired of the fisheries question, for it adjourned yesterday just as the president's message on the subject was received.

Judge Thurman in his tariff speech at Port Huron, in which he fully indorsed the Mills bill, failed to tell his audience why a tax of $67,000,000 was retained on sugar, while a tax of $6,000,000 was taken off wool, and the product admitted free of duty. His views on this question would be of interest to Ohio wool growers.

The contest between Cleveland and Hill in New York state is daily increasing in warmth and bitterness. In the first [illegible] the selection of the place for holding the state convention the president came out ahead, and Buffalo, his old home, was chosen in preference to Saratoga, which Hill favored. From present appearances the chances are anything but favorable for a democratic success in the Empire state. If Hill is nominated for governor he will do everything in his power to compass the election even to ousting Cleveland. His nomination will also alienate a large proportion of the mugwump vote from Cleveland. If he is not nominated he will do nothing for the success of the ticket, and would secretly prefer to see the republicans carry the state. But Hill has a powerful ally in the liquor interests of the state and his defeat for renomination is not probable.

The supreme court of Washington territory has decided that the act, whereby [illegible] is unconstitutional, on the ground that the legislature of the territory under the limitations provided by congress had no right to pass the act. An appeal will probably be taken to the United States supreme court though it is doubtful if the decision of the territorial court will be reversed. The only relief which the now disenfranchised masonry of the territory can have is to wait until the territory becomes a state, when the legislature will have the power to pass such a law, if it feels so disposed.

Through the enterprise and determination of Mr. J. H. Bowman, the assistant city passenger agent of the Colorado Midland railroad, a large number of Colorado citizens have promised to subscribe handsomely to the park concert fund. This is a move in the right direction for the good of the town, the enjoyment of our visitors and immensely to the credit of our citizens. Nothing can possibly be more enjoyable to our entire population, both transient and resident. In San Diego and many other cities of California, where they have parks similar to ours, their open concerts are the pride of the places and the admiration not only of the visitors and travelers but of the home people as well.

On September 4th Vermont will have an election for state officers, and on the following Tuesday Maine will elect state officers and members of the legislature. The republicans have over 15,000 majority in each of these states, but notwithstanding this fact, they are making an enthusiastic and thorough canvass. In Vermont they hope to increase the majority to 30,000, and in Maine to 50,000. In the latter state members of the legislature will be elected which will choose a successor to Senator Frye. The democrats are spending considerable money in Maine, and have enlisted the support of the railroad interests of the state. In addition to this a large number of campaign speakers have been secured, including Congressmen Mills, Breckenridge and Carlisle, District Attorney Fellows of New York, and Mr. Thomas M. Patterson of this state. This array of talent however will be more than offset by Mr. Blaine, who will make an extended canvass of the state. Inasmuch as the personal fine of the candidates for state offices does not enter into the election, and as the battle is being waged on the national issues the result will be awaited with great interest by both parties.

The St. Louis Globe Democrat places the following construction upon the election of General Boulanger to the chamber of deputies:

The chief significance of the triumphant re-election of General Boulanger to the chamber of deputies is in its international aspect. Most persons, even in France, believe that the undignified and discreditable figure which Boulanger cut at the time of his resignation a month ago would result in his permanent retirement to private life. The duel, also, in which he was vanquished by a civilian, and by one, too, who had long passed the age at which men ordinarily indulge in affairs of honor in France, was naturally calculated to lower his prestige in the eyes of his former admirers. Influences in operation abroad however, were silently but effectually working in his favor. The accession of William II. to the throne of the Hohenzollerns and the endeavor of that monarch to win Russia over into an alliance with Germany, aroused all the old revenge feeling in France, and drew attention once more to Boulanger, who is the most conspicuous and consistent embodiment of that sentiment. William declared pompously a few days ago that 16,000,000 Germans would be sacrificed in battle before the fatherland would surrender any of its territorial possessions which had been gained in war. The re-election of Gen. Boulanger in three departments in France happens to this honor.

A Cure for Sleeplessness.

From The London Spectator.

The terrible evil of insomnia has so many different sources, that the utmost we can hope from any single article is to afford relief from it under one special form. I venture to think I have an [illegible] upon a pain which thus remedies a very [illegible] sleeplessness; and, with your permission will endeavor to make your readers who may be fellow-sufferers sharers in my little discovery.

It is now, I believe, generally accepted that our conscious, daylight, thinking processes are carried on in the sinister half of our brains—i. e., in the lobe which controls the action of the right arm and leg. Pondering on the use of the dexter half of the brain possibly in all unconscious cerebration, and in whatsoever may be genuine of the mysteries of planchette and spirit rapping—I came to the conclusion (shared, no doubt, by many other better qualified inquirers) that we dream with this lobe, and that the fantastic, unmoral, sprite-like character of dreams is, in some way, traceable to that fact. The practical inference then struck me: to bring back lost sleep we must quiet the conscious, thinking, sinister side of our brains, and bring into activity only the dream side, the dexter lobe. To do this, the only plan I could devise was to compel myself to put aside every waking thought, even soothing and pleasant ones, and every effort of daylight memory, such as counting numbers or the repetition of easy flowing verses, the latter having been my not wholly unsuccessful practice for many years. Instead of all this, I saw I must think of a dream, the more unlike the latter, and to over and over the stones of previous. Armed with this idea, the next time I found myself [illegible] in the morning, instead of merely trying to banish painful thoughts and repeating, as was my habit, that recommendable soporific, "Paradise and Peri," I reverted at once to the dream from which I had awakened, and tried to go on with it. In a moment I was asleep. And from that moment the experiment, often repeated, has never failed. Not seldom the result is sudden as the fall of a curtain, and seems like a charm. A friend to whom I have confided my little discovery tells me that, without any preliminary theorizing about the lobes of the brain, she had hit upon the same plan to [illegible] and had found it wonderfully [illegible]

I should be very glad to hear if sufferers from [illegible] the sleepless hour in the [illegible] The evils of [illegible] wakefulness and of the [illegible] which it [illegible] are [illegible] are alike [illegible] only for [illegible] me my humble contribution of one more [illegible] remedy to obviate them.

RICH MEN OF ST. LOUIS.

WHO THEY ARE AND HOW THEY ACQUIRED WEALTH.

Men Who Have Walked the Most Humble Paths of Life, but Are Now Traveling the Easy Ways of Opulence and Luxury.

(Special Correspondence.)

St. Louis, Aug. 14.—St. Louis has its share of rich people like every other large community—people who are considered by their neighbors to have enormous fortunes. It is a noticeable fact, though, that the really conservative few people here who would be looked upon as the wealthy in any other of the large cities of the United States. The millionaire is not what he was in this country, in fact, the millionaire is now rather commonplace, and a man who wishes to attract attention by the size of his fortune must pass the million mark several times. I was standing in the lobby of a New York hotel not long ago. The clerk, who had lived in St. Louis a few years before, handed me a [illegible] and was waiting to know who this man was who asked for a suite of rooms. I looked at the signature and it was that of the richest man in St. Louis. Such is fame!

Two reasons which I think in part account for the absence of great accumulated wealth in St. Louis are the age of its city and the absence of the speculative fever here. St. Louis was built up so many years ago that the fortunes of its founders have been divided and sub-divided through successive generations. None of the great fortunes have been kept intact. They have been differently [illegible] away by children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren. In other cities the presence of the fever for speculation in grain, in real estate and in other speculative articles, builds up fortunes as it tears them down. St. Louis people are inclined to enjoy the possession of their wealth without risking it; a fortunate thing for many of the people, an unfortunate thing for the city.

There are many rich men in St. Louis, though, and some who, in the old accumulating methods acquired wealth is interesting.

The wealthiest man in the city of St. Louis is John T. Davis, of the firm of Samuel C. Davis & Co., wholesale drapers in dry goods. Mr. Davis comes of a Boston family. His father was a shrewd business man, who, by good investments, laid the foundation for the great fortune which his son enjoys today. Mr. Davis' wealth is variously estimated, the figures ranging from $15,000,000 to $20,000,000. The former figure is probably nearest the truth. Mr. Davis has over $1,000,000 in his dry goods business. The building in which his business is done and the ground on which that building stands are worth probably $600,000. In addition to this property Mr. Davis owns real estate in both the business and residence sections of St. Louis and a great deal of improved property in Boston and Chicago. Mr. Davis is a director in [illegible] corporations and a large owner of stocks and bonds. In appearance the richest man in St. Louis does not give an impression of extreme wealth. He is of medium height, with strong, clean cut features, a mustache just turning gray, close cropped over a firm mouth, and iron-gray hair of dark color, lighted up with gray. He dresses well, but very quietly, and his manner is unassuming, though firm and business like. Mr. Davis lives in a very large house on Lucas place, formerly the fashionable residence street of the city. He has a family, but they entertain very little and seem to find their chief enjoyment in traveling.

The second wealthiest man in the city of St. Louis until his death last summer was Colonel R. Allen. He came to St. Louis many years ago, without money and without friends. He entered in the iron business in a small way. His business increased from year to year, until he owned the largest foundry in St. Louis. The war found him with a large stock on hand, the value of which was enhanced with the breaking out of hostilities. As his profits accumulated Mr. Allen invested them carefully, one of his best purchases being an interest in the Anchor line of steamboats. The Anchor line ran [illegible] between St. Louis and the Falls on the stock necromancy and large. Mr. Allen's stock was generally believed to approximate that of Mr. Davis, but on his death it was found that his estate would not realize more than $5,000,000. Mr. Allen's will bequeathed generously was no doubt accountable for the deficit. Most of the estate of Mr. Allen went to his son, George Allen, who thus became one of the richest men in St. Louis. George Allen lacks many of his father's traits, notably his kindly courtesy. He is a man of medium height, with a full beard of dark brown. His manner is rather bluff. Mr. Allen's father held a controlling interest in the stock of The Republican, now The Republic, of this city, but since its sale to Joseph the control of the paper has passed again into the hands of the Knapp family. Mr. Allen lives with his family in the large double stone mansion which his father built some years ago on Chestnut and Twenty-eighth streets.

Another inherited fortune was that of the Maffitt family. One of the original settlers of St. Louis was a Catholic. From the Chouteau family Mrs. Maffitt is descended and from this family she inherited most of her wealth. Her fortune is estimated at $3,500,000. This money is invested in real estate and in negotiable stocks and bonds. One of her sons is the principal stockholder of the Missouri Street Railway company, owning two of the best paying roads in the city. The other is engaged in the [illegible] business. Mrs. Maffitt is getting old and she seldom goes out now. She lives with her family in a big double house on Lucas place. All of its exterior decorations and interior furnishings are rich, but its appearance is cold and gloomy. It is seldom opened for entertainments of any kind.

John J. Mitchell made his $3,500,000 by fortunate investments in the stock of successful corporations like the Chicago and Alton railroad, the Madison County ferry, the St. Louis Transfer company and the Toledo Gaslight company. He is one of the ruling spirits in these concerns today. He also owns government bonds in large amounts, and great tracts of farming land in Illinois, as well as quantities of improved real estate in Chicago.

The Thomas Allen estate was divided into several fat slices some years ago. Its value was [illegible] the partition and subsequent sale to Jay Gould of the Iron Mountain railroad, now part of the Missouri Pacific system. Edward Allen, George W. Allen are still [illegible] Both of them are largely interested in the Southern hotel. George Allen is a member of the city council, and a probable candidate for mayor.

Oliver A. Hart is one of the obscure rich men of St. Louis. He is worth about $3,000,000, made by fortunate investments in gas and railroad stocks. He occupies a house on Lucas place and attracts less attention than many a [illegible]

The richest Catholic widow known of St. Louis [illegible] is Henry Shaw. Years ago she came to St. Louis without paying a visit to Shaw's garden, which is said to contain among the finest botanical collections in the country. Mr. Shaw is a very old gentleman who lives in the house which he has occupied for years in what is now the heart of the retail business section of the city. In addition to establishing Shaw's garden, Mr. Shaw presented to the city many years ago Tower Grove park, a beautiful driveway, bordered with exquisite specimens of the artistic skill of the landscape gardener. Mr. Shaw is universally respected and loved, which is something unique for a millionaire. His wealth, [illegible] is by real estate, amounts to about $2,500,000.

There are three tobacco millionaires in St. Louis, Daniel Catlin, John F. Liggett and George S. Myers. Each of them is worth about $3,000,000, made in the manufacture of chewing tobacco. Their efforts principally have made St. Louis second only to New York in the manufacture of chewing tobacco.

Probably the most interesting, because the most recently created, of St. Louis millionaires are the bonanza kings so called—the little group of men who have suddenly grown wealthy through investments in mine[illegible] stocks. The [illegible] are Thomas [illegible] and Charles Clark. D. McLure married Mr. Clark's sister, which accounts for the close relationship between the men. Neither of them [illegible] St. Louis, and they went west a few years ago to try their fortunes in the silver fields of Montana. While working for some St. Louis people they came across a promising claim in Deer Lodge county, and they [illegible] it and called it the Granite Mountain. Some St. Louis capitalists were induced to put in money for development work, which was begun immediately. After various unsuccessful experiments with their claim, Clark and McLure developed it into a rich bonanza. It has paid $4,700,000 in dividends to date, and the company is said to be worth $24,000,000, figured on the market quotation of the stock. Mr. McLure is the largest owner of stock. His holdings is worth about $7,000,000. He also owns a controlling interest in the Bi-Metallic. Mr. Clark is worth almost as much as Mr. McLure. Most of the Granite Mountain stock is in his wife's name.

S. M. Rumsey, the president of the Granite Mountain, and his brother, Moses Rumsey, a wealthy retired banker, are also in many stocks.

Louis Dubourg is an extremely unique millionaire. He is worth about $1,750,000 and five years ago he was working for a St. Louis insurance company for $150 a month. Long after his graduation as millionaire he continued to go about his daily work and draw his $150 a month, well saving the bulk of his money in Granite Mountain.

Mrs. Grace Yale January inherited $1,000,000 in Granite Mountain stock from her husband. She has another fortune inherited from her father, whose estate was estimated worth $2,500,000. Mrs. January is young and handsome and she might marry one of any number of foreign titles, but she prefers to remain an American.

The Collier estate, which is under the management of a son-in-law of the late Mr. Collier—E. A. Hitchcock—is worth about $2,000,000.

A well known St. Louis millionaire is Adolphus Busch, the head of the Anheuser-Busch Brewing association. He is the wealthiest of the wealthy St. Louis brewers, his fortune being estimated at $15,000,000. He receives $75,000 a year for managing the interests of the big brewery, and he drinks more champagne than beer. He usually travels in a special car, and he enjoys all that money can afford wherever he goes.

Another St. Louis millionaire of national reputation is H. C. Kerens, Mr. Blaine's particular friend. Mr. Kerens helped manage the Blaine campaign of four years ago, and he was among the most confident of Mr. Blaine's friends in the Chicago convention. Mr. Kerens is worth about $1,500,000, invested largely in western railroad stocks.

There are many millionaires in St. Louis, and [illegible] more whose wealth exceeds a million whom I have not mentioned, but they are for the most part men little known outside of the community in which they live.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 31, 1888

CALL FOR REPUBLICAN PRIMARIES.

The primaries of the republican party of precinct No. 8, El Paso county, are hereby called for Wednesday, August 29th, 1888, for the purpose of electing delegates to the republican county convention, to be held at Colorado Springs September 1st, 1888, and to nominate one candidate for justice of the peace, one candidate for constable and one candidate for road overseer for said precinct. The wards of the precinct are entitled to the following delegates:

Ward No. 1 ..... 6 | Ward No. 3 6
Ward No. 2 ..... 6 | Ward No. 4 6

The voting places and judges are as follows:

Ward No. 1—At the court house. Judges, E. S. Joslyn, S. H. Kinsley, C. E. Stubbs.

Ward No. 2—At Roby's shop. Judges, John Fields, S. E. Sessions, C. S. Older.

Ward No. 3—At Blue Front livery barn, on Nevada avenue. Judges, Louis Rosnick, A. H. Brisbin, Chas Walker.

Ward No. 4—At city clerk's office. Judges, R. G. Parkins, F. A. Sperry, N. G. Rock.

The polls will be open from 9 a. m. to 6 p. m. All republicans are requested to give due attention.

A. C. DRAPER, Chairman.
H. C. McCURRY, Secretary.
August 22, 1888.

The Normal school of Colorado college will begin September 5th.

A man was fined $5 and costs for resisting an officer yesterday.

The police magistrate fined three men $5 and costs each yesterday for drunkenness.

Over 100 men are now at work on the sewerage system. A large proportion of them are dagos.

Miss L. M. Sheffer arrived in this city yesterday on a visit to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Sheffer.

Superintendent of the Water Works Frost has a force of men engaged in laying 2500 feet of three inch pipe at Colorado City.

Dr. O. M. White has moved his dental office from No. 119 S. Tejon street (opposite the postoffice) to the Robertson block, corner of Tejon and Huerfano streets.

A Dutchman who resides near Granger and who was in the city yesterday, said that the recent rains had proved a great benefit to the crops in that section of the county. He thought that there would be a fair crop of potatoes.

The republicans of Fountain are seriously thinking of placing a candidate in the field for the republican nomination for county commissioner. Among the names which have been suggested are those of W. W. Mayo and T. B. Mutchler.

The game of base ball to-morrow afternoon between the Pueblo and Colorado Springs clubs will be a hard fought battle. Mann and McMahon will probably be the local club's battery and the Pueblos will put forth every effort to win.

The A. O. U. W. celebration at Pueblo to-morrow, when a G. I. to-date a grand banquet and ball will be largely attended. The railroad fare from this city to members of the order will be $1.50. Badges will be furnished on the train.

Mr. Carl F. Eee, formerly of this city, and who was at one time the cashier in the freight office of the Denver & Rio Grande, and at this place, has been appointed traveling auditor of the Denver, Texas & Ft. Worth railroad, with headquarters at Denver.

The return cricket match between the Denver and Colorado Springs clubs will be played on the grounds of the former in Denver, on Labor Day, September 3rd, and it is hoped that our boys will redeem their recent defeat, which, we may remark, they believe they can do.

Messrs. C. J. Phelps, M. B. Reese, N. H. Bell, H. H. Dorsey and J. B. Palsgrove filed a plat of the town of Minnehaha with the county clerk yesterday. This town site was surveyed by M. Seaman, and is located near the Half-Way house, on the Manitou trail to Pike's Peak.

The company which owns the coal mines near Franceville, to which a branch of the Rock Island will be built, expects to receive the new machinery to be used at the mines in about thirty days. The contract for grading a portion of the branch from the Rock Island has been let and work will begin upon it in a few days.

Yesterday about noon two hackmen engaged in a fight at the Denver and Rio Grande depot, which was of short duration owing to the interference of the police. One of the participants accused the other of carrying passengers for less than the established rate. The aggressor was taken before Police Magistrate Shideler and fined $5 and costs.

Standing room was at a premium at the First Presbyterian church last evening on the occasion of the lecture by Mrs. Lillie Devereux Blake, president of the New York Woman Suffrage association. Mrs. Blake is a highly cultivated and intelligent woman, and handled her subject in a very able manner. Miss Fannie Aiken favored the audience with two solos which were very favorably received.

The rivalry between the base ball nines of the two social clubs is becoming more intense every day. They are busy practicing and when the eventful day arrives a game will be played that for intense, earnest effort and brilliant display, has never been equaled in Colorado Springs. Several of the players have made the great discovery that shoemaker's wax is a sure preventative for butter fingers but they do not wish it given away to the other side.

All playing members of the cricket club are urgently requested to be on the grounds this afternoon for practice. The executive committee must select the eleven to-night which is to play in the match at Denver on Labor Day, September 3d, and a proper selection cannot be made unless members will appear on [illegible]. If members will not demonstrate their fitness to represent their club in the coming match they certainly should not complain if they are left off of the eleven, but for the honor of the club it is hoped that the executive committee will have it in their power to pick out the strongest team available.

Mr. Wm. Willard Howard, who is on the regular staff of Harper's Weekly, passed through the city last evening on his way to Aspen. Mr. Howard is one of a party of three who are furnishing the above named periodical with a series of illustrated sketches on western cities. They have completed sketches of Kansas City, Chicago and Cincinnati, and are now gathering material for illustrated articles on Ouray, Leadville and Aspen. Next week an ascent of Sierra Blanca will be made which is one of the highest peaks in Southern Colorado. Mr. George E. Mellen of this city will accompany the party on this trip, and will furnish the photographs from which the illustrations will be taken. The other members of the party are Mr. John O. Foord and Mr. John F. Hucke[illegible]

BEST LINE EAST.

The Union Pacific Ry is by all odds the "Best Line East" on account of the fast time that is made and the reasonably hours for leaving Denver. Also the close connection that is made in Union depots with the trunk lines from Kansas City, Council Bluffs, St. Louis, and Chicago, reaching all the principal cities in the east. The U. P. Ry. is also the short line to the Pacific Coast, running two trains daily west and four trains to the east, daily. The evening trains from Colorado Springs make close connections in Denver with the Union Pacific Ry.
